

Dear Hiring manager,

I hope things are going well at your end. I am currently looking for a job change in the field of Data analytics and Data science. In this journey I have found this job opening of Business Analyst which matches my background and experience at everlaw. I would be glad if you could consider me for this position and for you to understand my background well, I have briefed about myself below.

I am a Statistics and Data Science Graduate from ASU (May 2018) and have been working as Data Scientist at American Express since then. I have been involved in building predictive models, varied commercial data reports and providing business solutions/insights to internal stakeholders at AMEX.

I am an avid ML enthusiast and with my personal interest have worked on varied ML problems in customer segmentation- acquisition, loan defaulting, sentiment analysis, fraud detection, etc.

I am now looking for opportunities which has more scope in building ML models, solving complex problems, handling large data, a role which has scope in EDA, data wrangling, feature engineering and other insight-based activities.

Previously, I have worked as a Strategist Business analyst, Product analyst, Data Analytics/Artificial Intelligence Intern and have proven experience in predictive modeling, machine learning modeling, feature engineering, data pipelining, data analytics, descriptive and inferential statistics, database systems, big data, data mining, trend interpretations, reporting, extracting insights in the last 3 years.

Additionally, I have used Python, SQL, Microsoft SQL Server, IBM DB2, Spark, Flask, Amazon Sagemaker, Tableau, R, Hadoop, Hive, Google analytics, Minitab, SPSS, SAS and many other technologies extensively in these years.

I urge you to go through my resume and you can further understand about my experiences on my LinkedIn profile at <https://www.linkedin.com/in/amrut-deshpande> and my projects on my GitHub profile at <https://github.com/amrutdeshpande> and revert to me if you need any further details upon my candidature.

Thank you, have a great week ahead!
